O, Snatched Away in Beauty's Bloom!

By LORD BYRON.

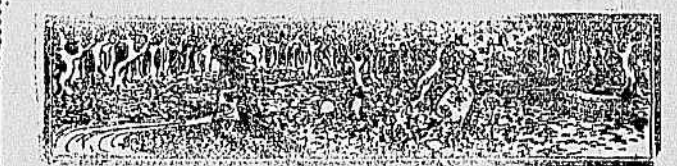

This is one of the "Hebrew Melodies" which Byron wrote for music. Other selections from Lord Byron, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

O! snatched away in beauty's bloom,
On thee shall press no ponderous tomb;
But on thy turf shall roses rear
Their leaves, the earliest of the year,
And the wild cypress wave in tender gloom!

And off by yon blue gushing stream
Shall sorrow lean her drooping head,
And feel deep thought with many a dream,
And lingering pause and lightly tread;
Fond wretch! as if her step disturbed the dead!

Away! we know that tears are vain,
That death nor heeds nor hears distress:
Will this unteach us to complain?
Or make one mourner weep the less?

And thou, who tell'st me to forget,
Thy looks are wan, thine eyes are wet.

This series began in The Times-Dispatch Sunday, October 11, 1903. One is published each day.

Meeting of H. M. A.
A meeting of Hollywood Memorial Association was held June 13th, at which various reports were received expressing gratification at the crowds attending the exercises on Memorial Day at Hollywood. Thanks were extended to the orator of the day, Judge T. H. Garrett; to the military, Lee Camp and all who contributed in any way to the success of the day.

Mention must be specially made of the zeal shown by the inmates of "The Home for Incurables," who made a hundred bunches of daisies, which were laid by loving hands on the graves of the dead soldiers.

The chairman of the Decorating Committee of the Hollywood Memorial Association wishes to express the thanks and appreciation of the society for the generous contributions of flowers sent them on Memorial Day, both to those from a distance and in the city.

Too much cannot be said of the kindness of the Southern Express Company for their generosity in bringing all flowers free of charge for so many years. Special mention must be made of the faithful committee who, with loving hearts and willing hands, are ever ready to do honor to the sacred trust in their charge.

One of the most beautiful and touching tributes to the dead heroes was the one made them by the children of Miss C. M. Colquitt's school. Each little one had saved pennies and bought their flowers. After the children had placed their flowers on the graves on "Gettysburg Hill," they then took some beautiful roses, which had just been received, and laid them on the grave of General Fitzhugh Lee to place a silent tribute of love to one so honored by all.

His excellent work there has won him the highest esteem alike from the faculty and his fellow-students.

Verdict To-day in Case of United States Against Levi Sullivan.

In the United States District Court yesterday the testimony was completed in the case of the United States vs. Levi C. Sullivan, white, charged with personation of a Federal officer and obtaining money by such false pretenses. The case was argued for about two hours or more by Messrs. John A. Lamb and Arthur M. Cannon for the prisoner and by the District Attorney for the government, and then submitted to the jury. Without waiting for the jury to deliberate over the case, Judge Waddill adjourned the members until to-day, when the report of the court and endeavor to agree upon a verdict.

Thereupon the trial of Charles A. Carroll, the young associate of Sullivan, the alleged fraud, was begun. Carroll is hardly more than a youth and does not appear to be of mature mind. The taking of testimony for the government was begun early in the afternoon and had not been completed when the court adjourned for the day. Carroll was represented by Messrs. W. T.
